Introductory Letter from President & Chief Executive Officer

DEAR APTIV COLLEAGUES:

Aptiv's high-performance culture is driven by our core values, including playing to win, working as one team, thinking and acting like owners, acting with urgency, having a passion for results, and operating with respect.

Underlying all of our values is our commitment to Always Doing the Right Thing, the Right Way. This means that every one of us has an obligation in everything we do -- every day and everywhere -- to act with absolute integrity.

Aptiv's Code of Ethical Business Conduct is an extension of our values, and serves as your guide to understanding what it means to do the right thing, the right way. It is important that you read this Code carefully and understand our expectations of your actions and behaviors.

Aptiv's well-earned reputation as an ethical company sets us apart. By complying with this Code, you help ensure that we maintain that reputation as we continue our mission to deliver safe, green and connected technologies that enable the future of mobility.

KEVIN CLARK

Introductory Letter from Chief Compliance Officer

DEAR APTIV COLLEAGUES:
WELCOME TO THE FOURTH EDITION OF APTIV'S CODE OF ETHICAL BUSINESS CONDUCT.

This Code is an extension of our values – it helps you understand what it means to act with urgency, to work as one team, to think and act like owners, to operate with respect, to play to win, and, most importantly, to always do the right thing, the right way.

The Code was designed to be easy to use and easy to apply. It contains important information about legal requirements and company expectations, and provides helpful guidance for navigating difficult situations.

Please read this Code carefully, even if you are familiar with past versions. As you review it, think about how it applies to your work, and about your obligation to speak up if you become aware of actions that are inconsistent with our Code or our values.

Thank you for doing your part to ensure Aptiv's continued reputation as a company that does everything with integrity.

Regards,

Code Overview

WHY DO WE HAVE A CODE?

Aptiv is committed to ethical conduct in our business, and we strive to comply with the letter and spirit of the law. Our Code is the foundation of this commitment and serves as our guide as we perform our daily responsibilities at work.

The Aptiv Code provides details regarding available ethics and compliance resources, and guides us when we need advice determining the right course of action. Acting with integrity is the most important thing we can do as we perform our jobs. Our responsibility is to live up to the standards reflected in our Code, Aptiv's values, and company policies.

HOW IS THIS CODE RELEVANT TO ME?

This Code is designed to help you identify and avoid ethical or legal issues in areas that are unfamiliar, and to act as a guide to making the right decision when difficult ethical questions arise. It also lists references to turn to with questions or concerns.

WHO MUST FOLLOW OUR CODE?

Our Code applies to the employees of all Aptiv companies, including subsidiaries and controlled affiliates. It also applies to our board members and others who are contracted to do business with Aptiv, such as temporary employees and consultants.

HOW SHOULD I USE THIS CODE?

You should begin by reading the Code and becoming familiar with its concepts. ⓘ The symbol will alert you to additional resources available to assist you in interpreting the Code. Remember, your supervisor or a member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs is always available if you have further questions or comments.

NOTE: SUPERVISORS AND MEMBERS OF THE LEGAL AND HUMAN RESOURCES STAFFS HAVE SPECIAL RESPONSIBILITIES.

Throughout this Code, Aptiv employees are directed to consult their supervisors and members of the Legal or Human Resources staffs with any questions about the Code. If you are a supervisor or member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs, you have a responsibility to:

- Know the Code: You may be stopped at any time by any employee with questions regarding the Code, so be prepared. Bring any questions requiring interpretation to Kate Ramundo, Chief Compliance Officer.
- Be a good example: Lead with integrity and show what it means to act with integrity.
- Be responsive: If an employee asks a question about the Code, respond quickly or forward the question to the person in the best position to provide the answer.
- Enforce the standards in the Code.
- Prevent retaliation against employees who raise questions or concerns regarding compliance and ethics.

Code Overview

DOES THIS CODE CHANGE? ARE PROVISIONS EVER WAIVED?

Yes. Changes to this Code may be made from time to time to address new issues or legal developments that impact how we conduct business. Waivers of the provisions in this Code may only be granted with proper approval. For questions about waivers, contact Chief Compliance Officer Kate Ramundo.

WHAT ARE THE CONSEQUENCES OF VIOLATING THE CODE?

Violations of the Code or related policies may result in serious consequences, up to and including termination of employment. In some cases they can even expose employees to civil or criminal liability.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

We conduct business all over the world and are subject to the laws of different countries and oversight organizations. We are responsible for following the laws that apply to us. If you are unsure about which laws apply to you, contact your supervisor or a member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs.

Acting with Urgency: Asking Questions and Raising Concerns

WE ALL HAVE A RESPONSIBILITY TO UNDERSTAND THE LAWS AND POLICIES THAT GOVERN OUR BUSINESS ACTIVITIES. WE ALSO HAVE A DUTY TO LET THE COMPANY KNOW IF WE SUSPECT SOMEONE MAY BE IN VIOLATION OF THE LAW OR OUR POLICIES. IT IS VITAL THAT EMPLOYEES SPEAK UP WHENEVER THEY'RE UNCERTAIN ABOUT A COURSE OF ACTION, OR HAVE REASON TO BELIEVE A VIOLATION HAS OCCURRED.

Acting with Urgency: Asking Questions and Raising Concerns

WHEN SHOULD I SPEAK UP?

This Code provides an overview of Aptiv's expectations, and general guidance for our actions. However, it cannot anticipate every possible situation you may encounter. That's why it's crucial that you speak up as soon as possible if:

- You are unsure about the proper course of action and need advice
- You believe that someone acting on behalf of Aptiv is doing, or may be about to do, something that violates the law or our Code

WHERE CAN I GO FOR HELP?

We value an environment of open, honest communication. There are many resources available to help you make the right decision and to report concerns or violations, including:

- Your immediate supervisor
- Other managers or the head of your department
- Functional experts such as the Legal staff, Internal Audit Services, Corporate Security or Human Resources
- Regional Compliance Officers or the General Counsel and Chief Compliance Officer
- Aptiv Drive Line
<https://driveline.aptiv.com>

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

You have a duty to speak up regarding potential legal or ethical violations. But how do you know if there's really a problem? Ask yourself the following questions:

- Does something not feel right?
- Is the action not in compliance with the law?
- Is the action in violation of our Code and policies?
- Would you be uncomfortable if the action were made public?

If the answer to any of these questions is "yes," speak up. Seek further guidance, or report the behavior. Keeping quiet is never the right solution. If someone is breaking the law or violating Aptiv's Code, their actions could cause serious damage. Raising an issue as soon as you become aware of it can prevent a small problem from becoming a crisis. Your active participation helps us work together to keep our workplace ethical, and protects the Company from the consequences of wrongdoing.

Acting with Urgency: Asking Questions and Raising Concerns

We take claims of retaliation seriously. We investigate all allegations of retaliation and take disciplinary measures when appropriate.

WE DO NOT RETALIATE

Any employee who in good faith seeks advice, raises a concern or reports misconduct is doing the right thing. Retaliation against any person who voices a concern will not be tolerated. Anyone who retaliates against someone for reporting an issue in good faith has violated this Code, and is subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination. If someone you know has raised a compliance or integrity issue, and you suspect retaliation by someone else, immediately contact your supervisor, a member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs, or the Aptiv Drive Line.

QUESTION

What does reporting an issue in “good faith” mean?

ANSWER

It is a violation of our Code to knowingly make a false allegation or report. When you report an issue in “good faith,” it means that you believe the information you are reporting is accurate and truthful, even if that belief turns out to be mistaken. We protect employees who raise concerns honestly and openly.

For more information please review our Retaliation Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

Acting with Urgency: Asking Questions and Raising Concerns

THE APTIV DRIVE LINE

If you feel unsure about where to go, or are uncomfortable using resources identified in this Code, Aptiv has an additional resource that can help: the Aptiv DRIVE Line. The Aptiv Drive Line is an anonymous (if requested, and subject to local law) outlet that allows employees to notify the Company of concerns regarding ethics and compliance.

The Aptiv Drive Line is operated by an independent company 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with translation services available at all times.

You may contact the Aptiv DRIVE Line by phone or the internet.

PHONE

See the Drive Line posters throughout your facility, or visit <https://driveline.apativ.com>, for the number appropriate for your location.

QUESTION

What happens when I contact the Aptiv Drive Line?

ANSWER

If you contact the Drive Line by phone, the attendant (who is not an Aptiv employee) will listen and provide a detailed summary of your call to Aptiv's compliance team.

The information will be confidential and your identity will be protected. If local law imposes any restrictions, the attendant will provide the relevant instructions.

If you contact the Aptiv Drive Line on the internet, you will be able to report your concern and provide details. Exactly like a phone report, the information will be confidential and your identity will be protected to the greatest extent possible. The internet portal will provide you information about any local law restrictions that may apply.

Regardless of how an issue is reported, the Aptiv Drive Line assigns a tracking number to each case. Employees who have made a report can check back on the status of their case, or provide more information. If an employee wishes to provide his or her name, the employee is protected by the Company's strict policy against retaliation.

All reports will be reviewed by a member of the Aptiv Compliance team. If further investigation is warranted, the matter will be handled promptly by trained investigators or subject matter experts, and corrective action will be taken as appropriate.

Acting with Urgency: Asking Questions & Raising Concerns

THE BOTTOM LINE

- You have an obligation to report suspected legal or ethical violations.
- The Aptiv Drive Line is an important resource for you.
- Your identity is protected.
- Retaliation against anyone who reports ethical violations in good faith is not tolerated.

GLOBAL LABOR PRINCIPLES

Aptiv’s employees are our most valuable resource. We are committed to treating our employees with integrity and respect, and we adhere to the following principles:

Non-Discrimination And Equality

We provide equal employment opportunities to individuals of diverse backgrounds and experiences. We do not discriminate against an employee or applicant because of their race, ethnicity, color, gender, sexual orientation, religion, age, national origin, handicap/disability, genetic information, union activities, political beliefs, veteran status or disabled veteran status, marital status, pregnancy status or any other status that is protected by law in a particular jurisdiction.

Child Labor

We comply with applicable laws in each jurisdiction in which we conduct business, and in accordance with International Labor Organization standards, we do not employ anyone under the age of 15 anywhere in the world.

Slave Labor/Human Trafficking

We do not use or tolerate forced or slave labor, or any form of human trafficking.

Working Hours

We commit to providing fair working conditions, in accordance with applicable wage laws, including minimum wage and overtime.

Freedom Of Association

We recognize the right of employees to organize and bargain collectively in compliance with applicable laws. Employees are free to communicate openly with management regarding working conditions without fear of retaliation or intimidation.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

Evaluate all employees on their work product and skills, rather than on gender, race, religion, age, or any other specific demographic characteristic. Consult with the Human Resources staff before finalizing personnel decisions.

For more information please review our Diversity, Equality and Human Rights Policy available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

ENSURE FREEDOM FROM HARASSMENT AND BULLYING

Our Company values integrity and respect. We insist on a workplace that is free from harassment, bullying and any other discriminatory conduct, including jokes, slurs or other offensive remarks. Similarly, implicit or explicit threats, intimidation, bullying and violence will not be tolerated.

Some actions that may be considered harassment include:

- Unwelcome or inappropriate comments, jokes, physical contact or gestures
- Sexual advances or requests for sexual favors
- Verbal or physical threats of any kind
- Displaying or distributing explicit or derogatory material
- Making ethnic, religious, age-related or sexual jokes or insults
- Demonstrating hostility towards others because of personal characteristics

QUESTION

Some of the workers in my area regularly tell tasteless jokes and use foul language. This doesn't bother me, but I can tell that it upsets one of my coworkers, especially when the jokes or comments are directed at her. Should I say something?

ANSWER

Yes. This conduct has created an uncomfortable work environment for your coworker. If you're comfortable asking the employees to stop the jokes, you may. If not, you should make your supervisor or the Human Resources staff aware, or contact the Drive Line.

If you observe or experience any form of harassment, report it to your supervisor, a member of the Human Resources staff or contact the Aptiv Drive Line. Remember, our Company has a strict policy forbidding retaliation against anyone making a good faith report. Anyone who retaliates against another employee is subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

For more information please review our Anti-Harassment and Appropriate Workplace Conduct Policies, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

SUPPORT A SAFE AND HEALTHY WORKPLACE

The health and safety of our employees is Aptiv's highest priority. We believe all occupational injuries and illnesses are preventable. We will never compromise the health or well-being of anyone at Aptiv. We follow all safety laws, regulations and policies at all of our locations.

Safety is everyone's responsibility. Aptiv's commitment to safety means that each of us needs to be alert to safety risks while we work. It also means that supervisors have an overriding responsibility to lead by example and support safe work practices.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

Our manufacturing facilities display safety information to plant employees and visitors as a matter of pride and celebration. We have cause to celebrate: Our safety record is outstanding. We must, however, ensure that our safety numbers remain accurate. If an accident occurs, we must recognize, understand and correct it. Failure to report an accident should never happen at Aptiv.

QUESTION

While walking through the plant, I saw an employee driving a forklift truck in what appeared to be a reckless manner. I work in the main office, and I have no responsibilities for the plant or its employees, so I didn't say anything. Now I'm wondering if I made the right call.

ANSWER

You should let someone know. Safety is everyone's responsibility. Reporting unsafe practices can help Aptiv take preventive steps to avoid accidents. Your actions are important in protecting the safety of the workplace and your coworkers. Such incidents should be reported to your supervisor or local Health and Safety representative.

For more information please review our Appropriate Workplace Conduct and Environment, Health & Safety Policies, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

WORKPLACE VIOLENCE

A safe and secure work environment also means a workplace free from violence. Threats (whether implicit or explicit), intimidation and violence are not tolerated. Weapons – even if intended for sporting purposes – are never allowed on company property.

TAKE SUBSTANCE ABUSE SERIOUSLY

Work requires clear thinking, and may also require quick reactions – the safety of others depends on it. Use of alcohol or drugs, including the improper use of medication, diminishes an employee's ability to perform at his or her best. Aptiv has a strict prohibition against the use of illegal drugs. Consumption of alcohol in the workplace or while conducting Aptiv business is also prohibited, except under the limited circumstances outlined in our Appropriate Workplace Conduct Policy. Violations are taken very seriously.

Working as One Team

THE BOTTOM LINE

- Aptiv is committed to fostering a safe and professional workplace – one that values diversity, teamwork, merit, and trust.

Everything with Integrity

APTIV CONDUCTS BUSINESS AROUND THE WORLD WITH FAIRNESS AND INTEGRITY. THIS IS TRUE WHETHER WE ARE INTERACTING WITH OUR CUSTOMERS, OUR SUPPLIERS OR OUR COMPETITORS. WE ARE COMMITTED TO COMPLYING WITH ALL APPLICABLE LAWS WHEREVER WE DO BUSINESS.

AVOID CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

A conflict of interest exists when a personal interest or activity interferes, or appears to interfere, with your ability to fulfill your Aptiv obligations with integrity. We must avoid conflicts of interest and the appearance of conflicts of interest at all times.

Examples of potential conflicts of interest include:

- Making a material investment in a supplier, customer or competitor
- Accepting personal services or payments from a supplier, customer or competitor
- Having a close family member who works for a supplier or customer in a role that may affect your decisions at Aptiv
- Working outside Aptiv without department director approval, especially in an industry related to Aptiv's core businesses
- Benefiting from opportunities that arise from the use of Company property, information or position
- Receiving a loan or guarantee of an obligation as a result of your position with the Company
- Holding public office or involvement in certain charitable organizations

If you believe you are involved in, or are aware of, any situation that could result in an actual or potential conflict of interest, you must disclose it to your supervisor, a member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs, or contact the Aptiv Drive Line.

Supervisors have an even greater responsibility to ensure that no conflicts of interest exist, and must disclose promptly to appropriate management any situation that could result in an actual or potential conflict of interest.

QUESTION

I am a buyer in Supply Chain Management. My husband just accepted a job working with one of our suppliers as an engineering manager. Is this a conflict?

ANSWER

A relative's job at a customer or supplier does not always constitute a conflict of interest, but your role as a buyer for Aptiv and his role at the supplier could be a problem. You need to disclose the situation to your supervisor or a member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs, so that management is able to fully understand whether your husband's role could influence your purchasing decisions, and take appropriate preventive measures.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

When trying to decide whether a particular situation might create a conflict of interest, ask yourself:

- Could the situation appear to influence your ability to make business decisions?
- Could you or a relative stand to personally benefit from the situation?
- Is there a risk you could be forced to choose between your best interest and Aptiv's?

If your answer to any of these questions is "yes," there is at least the appearance of a conflict of interest and you should promptly disclose it.

For more information, please review our Conflicts of Interest Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

AVOID IMPROPER PAYMENTS & CORRUPT PRACTICES

Aptiv employees are subject to a number of laws that prohibit bribery in any setting. As a result, all employees must be careful not to do anything that could be construed as giving or receiving a bribe of any sort. Aptiv employees should always operate in an open and honest manner, compete fairly with others, and not rely on illegal or unethical methods. This means that you may not provide, offer, authorize, or promise to provide anything of value in order to secure an improper advantage or obtain or retain business.

We must never:

- Give or offer a government or union official anything of value, directly or indirectly, that is intended to influence his or her judgment in the performance of official duties
- Make “facilitation payments,” that is, payments made to “speed things along,” like payments to expedite a customs authority’s approval of importation of raw materials
- Ask a third party to make any payment, or do any other act, that would be inappropriate for our Company to do directly
- Participate in any kickbacks or similar improper dealings with representatives of our suppliers or customers

Bribery payments to foreign government officials by any Aptiv employee or agent are illegal under anti-corruption laws that apply to Aptiv. Under such laws, Aptiv may be accountable for the actions of its employees and agents, regardless of their citizenship, location of employment or other factors. And in many cases, improper payments between parties to non-governmental commercial transactions (such as kickbacks) may also violate anti-corruption laws. If someone requests a bribe or kickback, refuse and immediately report the request to the Legal staff.

Employees are responsible for maintaining accurate and detailed entries in records that may reflect the true use of expenses, such as travel or entertainment expense reports.

QUESTION

Aptiv is building a plant in a new country, but it’s taking a long time. The building inspector informed us that for a small payment he can “cut through the red tape” and expedite permit processing. Is this acceptable?

ANSWER

No. This is what’s known as a “facilitation” or “grease” payment. This is improper even though the payment isn’t intended to influence the ultimate outcome of the government official’s action.

If you have questions about bribery laws or whether a gift or payment would be considered improper under our guidelines or national or international laws, please speak to your supervisor or a member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs. For more information please review our Anti-Corruption Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

UNDERSTAND WHEN WE CAN GIVE AND RECEIVE GIFTS AND ENTERTAINMENT

All relationships with our suppliers and customers must be based entirely on sound business decisions and fair dealing. You should not accept or provide anything that:

- Compromises, or appears to compromise, the integrity of the business relationship
- Places you or others in an unsafe environment (e.g., gifts of alcohol or alcohol-related activities)
- Potentially embarrasses or damages your reputation or the Company's (e.g., adult entertainment establishments, which are not acceptable under any circumstances)

Certain exceptions may be made in countries where customary practices are different, but only with approval of your management. Any questions regarding the appropriateness of a gift should be addressed with your supervisor or a member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs.

QUESTION

A supplier invited me to participate in a golf outing, which my manager approved. After the round, a drawing was held and I won a set of golf clubs (valued at several hundred US dollars). I accepted the prize because it was a random drawing, not an intentional gift to me. But a coworker told me I should not have accepted the clubs. Who was right?

ANSWER

Your coworker is correct. Any prize received in a contest, drawing or a raffle would be considered a gift. If the value exceeds US $50, accepting it without approval of your supervisor would be considered a violation of the Code. You must return the golf clubs.

GIVING AND RECEIVING GIFTS

Keep the following rules in mind when giving and receiving gifts:

- Gifts should be infrequent and not of significant value
- Never give or receive cash or cash equivalents, such as gift cards
- In general, gifts should not exceed US $50 in value. If there is a strong reason why the gift must exceed US $50, review the gift with your supervisor, and get written approval
- Never solicit gifts
- Always disclose the purchase of gifts and the identity of the recipient in expense reports
- Gifts to government officials, or employees of state owned entities or public international organizations (for example, the Red Cross) are highly restricted due to the concern that they may violate anticorruption laws

ENTERTAINMENT

Business-related entertainment or social contact may be appropriate if it is not lavish and it is limited. Employees should ensure the nature of entertainment would withstand public scrutiny.

Examples of permissible entertainment include:

- Refreshments before, during or after a business meeting
- Meals before, during or after business meetings or when otherwise business-related
- Infrequent business-related invitations to engage in activities such as sporting events, cultural activities, or a dinner, when accompanied by a representative of the supplier or customer.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

If you receive a business gift, would you be willing to write a “thank you” note for the gift and send a copy to your supervisor? Will your acceptance of a gift or entertainment create a perception that will cast doubt on your objectivity?

For more information please review our Gifts and Entertainment policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

COMPETE FAIRLY

We all benefit from fair, free and open markets, and we work to outperform our competition fairly and honestly. Fair competition is a matter of our own corporate values, but it's also a matter of law. Competition laws exist in most countries in which Aptiv conducts business.

We compete strictly on the merits of our products and services and make no attempts to restrain or limit trade.

Specifically:

- We never discuss prices, pricing strategies, product planning, marketing or terms of sale with competitors. If a prohibited subject comes up during a discussion or meeting in which competitors are present, you should excuse yourself from the discussion. Inform your supervisor or a member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs if you have been involved in, or have been requested to participate in, such discussions
- We do not enter into agreements with our competitors concerning prices, production volumes, customers or sales territories
- We do not link purchase of one product to another, or compel suppliers to buy from us to retain Aptiv business
- We do not dishonestly represent the products or services of a competitor
- We do not induce customers to break contracts with competitors unlawfully
- We collect competitive information through proper public or other lawful channels. We will not use information that was obtained illegally or improperly by others, including through misrepresentation, invasion of property or privacy, or coercion

QUESTION

I recently attended an industry conference, and had lunch with a friend from college, who now works for an Aptiv competitor. My friend began discussing her company's pricing strategy for a product that is similar to one we make at Aptiv, and asked about Aptiv's pricing. Was this appropriate?

ANSWER

No. You should immediately put a halt to any such conversation and report it to your supervisor or a member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs. In addition to being an improper request to disclose confidential Aptiv information, the conversation could be viewed as an attempt at price fixing, which violates the law in most countries, and could lead to serious penalties for the companies and individuals involved.

Talk to your supervisor if you have any questions or need more information. For more information please review our Fair Competition Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

NEVER ACT ON MATERIAL NON-PUBLIC INFORMATION

Material non-public information should never be discussed with or provided to outsiders. Such disclosures are against the law as they can, if known publicly, have an effect on a company's stock price. This applies to information about Aptiv, a supplier, competitor, customer or business partner.

If you learn of material non-public information about a company, you are prohibited from buying or selling stock or other securities, or making other investments in that company until the information has been publicly disclosed and has had time to be absorbed by the market. These rules around insider trading apply even if you are not an employee of the company. It is also illegal to provide non-public inside information, or "tips," to others, such as a family member or friend. You should contact the Legal staff with any questions about rules regarding buying or selling securities.

Some examples of material non-public information could include:

- A planned acquisition or merger
- Financial information, such as earnings estimates, increases or decreases in sales, dividend payments or liquidity issues
- Significant expansion or curtailment of operations
- A government investigation or lawsuit against the company – or a settlement – that ends an investigation or lawsuit
- Significant new technologies or business opportunities
- Changes in key management personnel

You should always maintain the confidentiality of any material non-public information about Aptiv or our business partners.

QUESTION

I'm aware that Aptiv is thinking about buying a small company. I mentioned this to my brother, who later told me he bought stock in the company, hoping that when the Aptiv deal is announced, the stock will go up. Did I do something wrong?

ANSWER

Possibly, and your brother could be in trouble, too. Providing material non-public information about this transaction could be viewed as "tipping," which is a violation of the securities laws – particularly if you had reason to believe your brother would use the information for personal benefit. And by acting on that tip, your brother could also be in violation of securities laws.

For more information please review our Careful Communications Policy and our Insider Trading Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

COMMIT TO SUPERIOR PRODUCT QUALITY

Aptiv is committed to outstanding product quality and flawless execution. We know these qualities, together with our firm commitment to integrity in business, allow our customers to have great confidence in our capabilities, and will strengthen a sustainable competitive advantage for our business.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

The quality of each product Aptiv sells reflects on each Aptiv employee. Solid product quality and proper attention to the customer enhance the reputation of our products and services, and of Aptiv, as a whole.

WORKING WITH SUPPLIERS

Our suppliers are valued partners and our relationships with them must be characterized by honesty and fairness. Suppliers are selected based on quality, service, technology, price and a commitment to share our ethical values.

We treat our suppliers fairly by:

- Communicating terms and conditions that define our relationship with suppliers during the request-for-quote process
- Agreeing to terms and conditions, or modifications approved by Supply Chain Management or the Legal staff, before work begins
- Including standard terms and conditions, which reflect our policies regarding payment, confidentiality, the use of intellectual property, labor practices and the obligation to comply with laws, among others

We also expect our suppliers to share our ethical values and commitment to compliance. Suppliers are asked to comply with our Supplier Code of Conduct, which specifies Aptiv's expectations in several key areas, including labor and human rights, health and safety, the environment, fair competition, and anticorruption.

QUESTION

One of Aptiv's suppliers mentioned that a company that supplies it with raw materials is the focus of a child labor investigation in its home country. Since we don't deal directly with this company, is this something Aptiv should be concerned about?

ANSWER

Yes. All of the companies in our supply chain have the potential to impact Aptiv's reputation. We require our suppliers to comply with laws and human rights standards, and we expect them to demand the same of their suppliers. In this situation, inform your supervisor or Supply Chain Management.

For more information applicable to suppliers, visit Aptiv's supplier portal at: <https://aptiv.com/suppliers/>

COMPLY WITH TRADE RESTRICTIONS & CONTROLS

A number of countries impose restrictions on exports and trade dealings with other countries, entities and individuals. Serious penalties – fines, revocation of permits to export and imprisonment – can apply if these laws are broken.

Trade restrictions can take many forms, including:

- Bans on exports to a prohibited country directly or through a customer or distributor
- Bans on imports from, or dealings in property originating in, a sanctioned country
- Travel to or from a sanctioned country
- New investments in a sanctioned country
- Financial transactions and dealings involving a sanctioned country or designated individuals and entities
- Restrictions on sales to government end-users or adapting products for a military end-use
- Laws prohibiting support of boycott activities

These restrictions also impose licensing requirements for export of certain products or technologies. The list of prohibited countries and restrictions is subject to change. If your work involves the sale or shipment of products across international borders, make sure you understand the current rules and check with your supervisor if you are ever unsure. You should also check export policies regarding transfers of any technology or shipping of any products to another country.

An “export” also can include the transfer of restricted information to a citizen of a restricted country by:

- E-mail
- Phone
- Face-to-face discussions
- Visits to Aptiv facilities
- Access to shared drives or collaborative work systems

Boycott laws prohibit companies and employees from taking any action, furnishing any information or making any declaration that could be viewed as participation in an illegal foreign boycott. Be sure you know and comply with all export controls and trade restrictions, and allow sufficient time to obtain the necessary government approvals so that shipments to suppliers are not disrupted.

For more information please contact the Customs or Legal staffs, or review the Global Trade Policy available on the Trade Compliance page here.

Everything with Integrity

THE BOTTOM LINE

- We strive to be honest and fair in all of our business dealings.
- We must never take actions that could undermine Aptiv's success and reputation in the marketplace.

Thinking and Acting Like Owners

AS A LEADING TECHNOLOGY COMPANY, OUR INFORMATION AND PROPERTY IS VITAL TO OUR CONTINUED SUCCESS. WE MUST BE DILIGENT IN GUARDING OUR INFORMATION AND ENSURING THAT IT IS ACCURATE AND RELIABLE.

PROTECT COMPANY ASSETS

We must safeguard Aptiv's corporate assets and ensure they are properly maintained and used only for our Company's business interests. Theft, carelessness and waste have a direct impact on Aptiv's profitability. Suspected incidents of fraud or theft should be immediately reported to your supervisor or the Aptiv Drive Line for investigation.

Do not use business assets for personal reasons. Situations may arise where infrequent and limited personal use is acceptable. Always discuss potential personal use of business assets with your supervisor first.

DO NOT USE APTIV PROPERTY OR INFORMATION FOR PERSONAL GAIN

You are not permitted to use corporate property, information or position for personal gain or to compete with Aptiv. Competing with Aptiv may involve engaging in the same line of business as the Company or taking away from the Company opportunities for sales or purchases of products, services or interests.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

If you are using Company assets for a non-business purpose to save yourself money, the use is almost certainly inappropriate. When in doubt, discuss the issue with your supervisor.

SAFEGUARD INFORMATION

We regularly produce valuable, non-public ideas, strategies and other business information. This is called “proprietary information,” meaning Aptiv owns it.

Our Proprietary Information

Because it is the product of our Company’s hard work, various laws allow us to protect proprietary information from use by outsiders. Some examples of proprietary information include:

- Sales, pricing, marketing, financial and other corporate databases
- Engineering and other technical data
- Production methods, techniques or knowhow that is not public knowledge
- Marketing strategies and plans
- Bids and proposals
- New product development

Everyone must protect the confidentiality of our proprietary information to ensure that we reap the benefits of our hard work. Sometimes it is necessary to share proprietary information with outsiders – for example, in a commercial relationship with a business partner. However, even when there is a legitimate reason to share proprietary information, never disclose it without management’s prior approval and a written agreement approved by the Legal staff.

Our Intellectual Property

Works of authorship (such as designs or other creative expressions), technological advances and our unique solutions to business problems are “intellectual property” that may be protected by patents, trademarks, copyrights and trade secrets. We must identify and protect our intellectual property. Contact the Legal staff if you believe you have an intellectual property asset that needs to be protected, or if you suspect that someone is using an Aptiv patent, trademark, copyright or trade secret in an unauthorized manner.

Proprietary Information of Others

Just as we protect our own confidential information, we respect the proprietary and confidential information of others, including written materials, software and other intellectual property. Always protect the confidentiality of that information with the same level of care we take to protect our own proprietary information.

If you have questions about our intellectual property, contact the Legal staff. For more information please review our Intellectual Property Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

FOLLOW CYBERSECURITY AND PRIVACY POLICIES AND STANDARDS

We are all responsible for following Aptiv's Cybersecurity and Privacy policies and standards. Security breaches can result in the loss of our data, disrupt our business, cause harm to the rights and freedoms of our people, and damage our reputation. Information systems, and the data they hold, are Aptiv assets and must be protected from accidental or unauthorized access, disclosure, modification, or destruction. To ensure protection of our Company's assets:

- Use Aptiv data and systems for appropriate purposes only. Do not modify, disable, or remove any security or data protection capabilities that have been activated on the system
- Protect all mobile devices, such as smartphones and laptops. Always store these devices in a secure location. Report any theft immediately
- Protect your access to Aptiv systems. Do not share your passwords
- Practice safe usage of portable/external drives – utilize encryption and do not mix personal information with company information
- Never use personal accounts for email, social media, or file sharing to store or exchange Aptiv information

QUESTION

An engineer working for a new supplier requested product drawings for a product the supplier may be working on. After I provided the drawings, I realized I did not know if the supplier signed a non-disclosure agreement (NDA). What should I do?

ANSWER

You should advise your manager and contact the Legal staff to confirm that an NDA has been signed. Before disclosing confidential or proprietary information to any third party, it's important to confirm that the third party has agreed to protect the information.

RESPECT PERSONAL INFORMATION

Aptiv respects the privacy and protects the data of our employees, suppliers, and customers. Only those employees who have appropriate authorization and a clear business need may access such information and must adhere to the highest standards of confidentiality regarding its use.

Data Privacy on a Global scale

The protection of personal data is governed by a diverse range of laws and regulations in the countries in which we operate. In Aptiv, we take great care to ensure that our personal data handling is compliant globally, and that the confidentiality, integrity and availability of personal data is upheld. The collection, use, storage, retention, and transfer of data (to other countries or third parties), must abide by the regulations of each country or region. To this end, the Privacy Office operates centralized processes to evaluate risk, advise on privacy requirements, ensure Privacy by Design, and create a record of personal data processing. The Privacy Office is also supported by a network of Privacy Liaisons across Aptiv.

For more information please review our Cybersecurity Policies, available here or contact the Cybersecurity team at informationsecurity@aptiv.com. To learn more about Aptiv's handling of employee personal data, please see the Employee Privacy Notice here. Find further advice and support on personal data handling via the Privacy Office here, contact your local Privacy Liaison, or email the Privacy Office directly at privacy@aptiv.com.

CREATE AND MAINTAIN ACCURATE BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL RECORDS

Aptiv makes decisions based on the accuracy of information recorded at all levels of the Company and also makes public disclosures based on that information. It is our responsibility to maintain all information and records honestly and accurately, and to promptly recognize and correct any errors and communicate them to appropriate management.

ACCURATE BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL RECORDS

All of Aptiv's books, records, accounts and financial statements must:

- Be maintained in reasonable detail
- Appropriately reflect Aptiv's transactions
- Conform to applicable legal and accounting requirements and to Aptiv's system of internal controls

We are responsible for the accuracy of Company records. If you believe that a record is inaccurate, false or misleading, you must promptly report this to your supervisor, a member of the Legal staff or contact the Aptiv Drive Line.

QUESTION

My manager asked me to delay accruing certain expenses until the next quarter. She told me that doing so wouldn't matter in the long run, because all of the expenses would be accrued by the end of the year. Is this acceptable?

ANSWER

No. Every business and financial transaction, however immaterial, must be reported accurately and honestly. Creating a false or misleading Company document or record is a serious offense and could result in termination of employment.

For more information please review our Records Management Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

PROVIDE FULL AND ACCURATE COMPANY DISCLOSURE

In addition to creating and maintaining accurate records, we have a responsibility to provide full and accurate information in our public disclosures, in all material respects, about the Company's financial condition and results of operations. Our reports and documents filed with or submitted to the Securities and Exchange Commission and our other public communications must include complete, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure. Aptiv has established a disclosure committee consisting of senior management to assist in monitoring such disclosures.

PREVENT FRAUD

We are all responsible for recognizing and reporting fraud, falsification of records, or other intentional manipulation of data and information. Fraud can appear in many forms and can occur at all levels of our Company. Fraud can also occur with our external partners and suppliers. Some examples of fraud may include:

- Misrepresentation of financial results
- Expense reports that are intentionally inflated or falsified
- Improper use of business resources or Company assets

Fraud and other forms of dishonesty can cause serious damage to Aptiv and our reputation, and may also be a violation of the law. If you have questions or suspect any instance of actual or potential fraud within Aptiv or with any of our suppliers or partners, you should contact your supervisor, a member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs, or contact the Aptiv Drive Line.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

Although fraud is often subtle and difficult to discover, there are frequently "red flags" that suggest fraud may be occurring. If you notice any of the below, consider reporting the situation to an appropriate company representative:

- Missing documents
- Duplicate payments
- Invoices just under approval limits
- Excessive purchases
- Expense reports with missing receipts
- Significant lifestyle changes

All public disclosures are the subject of careful review. For more information, please contact the Finance or Legal staffs.

PRACTICE CAREFUL COMMUNICATION

We are responsible for what we write, including emails, social media posts, formal communications or handwritten notes. Written communications are critical in our day-to-day business, but they may also be used:

- As evidence in a lawsuit
- By government regulatory agencies
- By internal departments such as human resources, legal, or audit as part of an investigation of past practices or events
- By the media to report on our business activities and decisions

By communicating carefully, you protect Aptiv's reputation. Poor communication, especially when taken out of context, may hurt Aptiv by suggesting a contradiction or conspiracy where none exists, characterizing facts or people in a manner that is not accurate or fair, or portraying a point of view that is not actually held.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

There are countless examples of how emails sent in anger or frustration have created significant problems for companies and individuals. Before you hit "send" on an emotionally charged email, pause to reconsider the tone and content of the email. Better yet, speak to the individual in person or on the telephone rather than sending the message by email. Before sending an email, ask yourself if you would like to read about your communication in the media or explain it to someone who may be conducting an investigation.

For more information please contact a member of the Legal staff and review our Careful Communications Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

RESPONDING TO GOVERNMENT INQUIRIES AND INVESTIGATIONS

Aptiv's business activities are regulated, so some of us may come into contact with government officials responsible for enforcing the law. We must deal honestly with government officials, but care must be taken to ensure that Aptiv's legitimate interests are protected. Legal documents and investigations normally flow through established Aptiv channels, but there may be occasions where legal documents or requests for information and interviews are received by employees outside of the Legal staff.

If you are visited by a government official in an investigative inquiry, be professional and cooperative, but request the presence of legal counsel. If circumstances are such that you are unable to contact or be with the Legal staff before you have to answer questions from government officials or allow them to conduct a search of the premises, call the Legal staff as soon as you are able to do so.

In non-emergency situations, consult the Legal staff before you:

- Agree to or participate in an interview
- Permit a governmental official to search any of our locations
- Answer any questions about Aptiv business
- Produce any documents
- Respond to any requests in connection with any litigation or investigation

Also, be sure to preserve records relevant to any government inquiry.

RECORD RETENTION AND DESTRUCTION

It's important that employees follow Aptiv's record retention policies to determine how and when records should be retained. In the event of litigation or a governmental investigation, you may receive instructions to retain certain records. Failure to comply with such instructions could result in serious legal consequences. If you have any questions about your obligations, please consult the Legal staff.

SPEAKING ON BEHALF OF THE COMPANY

We must maintain integrity in our relationships with the media, government officials and the general public by providing accurate information. We have designated spokespersons who are authorized to speak on behalf of Aptiv. Corporate Communications is responsible for communicating our Company's position on a range of issues. All inquiries, media questions and request for interviews should be referred to Corporate Communications, and all interaction with government officials should be referred to the Government Relations staff. Requests for speaking engagements should be discussed with your supervisor or the Corporate Communications staff at mediarelations@aptiv.com.

Investor Relations and the members of our senior management, such as the CEO and the CFO, are the only individuals authorized to interact with investors, financial analysts, the media or potential investors.

QUESTION

A member of the press just contacted me about one of our new products. What should I do?

ANSWER

Immediately notify your supervisor and your designated Corporate Communications representative, or email mediarelations@aptiv.com, to ensure that the most appropriate person or team responds. Employees are not authorized to respond immediately to journalists or elected officials and their staffs.

For more information please contact a member of the Government Relations staff or Corporate Communications at mediarelations@aptiv.com. Please review our Careful Communications policy, and Guidelines for Interaction with Government Officials, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

SOCIAL MEDIA

Every employee is an ambassador for the Aptiv brand, and we want to ensure each of you are educated and empowered to use these sites to their full potential. We expect everyone who participates in social media for personal or professional use to understand and follow the following simple, but important, guidelines:

- Our customers and business are confidential
- Understand and adhere to employee conduct standards
- You are responsible for your actions
- Be transparent
- Be an ambassador for the brand
- Respect and follow the guidelines of individual social media sites

QUESTION

Someone posted a negative (and I believe inaccurate) comment about Aptiv on Facebook. I want to write a reply defending Aptiv and correcting the facts. Is this OK?

ANSWER

First consider the below and then if you are an expert on the topic, it is okay to professionally respond with the correct facts.

- When discussing Aptiv or Aptiv-related matters, you must clearly identify yourself as an Aptiv employee and include a disclaimer that the views are your own and not those of Aptiv
- Approach online communities in the same way you approach personal interactions: use common sense and sound judgment
- When in doubt – ask by sending an email to our Aptiv social team social@aptiv.com.

For more information please contact a member of the Corporate Communications staff and review our Careful Communications Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here, and the Social Media Policy, available here.

Thinking and Acting Like Owners

ETHICS, COMPLIANCE AND SUSTAINABILITY INFLUENCE EACH DECISION WE MAKE, WITH SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY AT THE CORE OF THE OVERALL SUCCESS OF OUR BUSINESS. APTIV VALUES STRONG RELATIONSHIPS WITH OUR COMMUNITIES, OUR EMPLOYEES, AND OUR CUSTOMERS AND SUPPLIERS.

OUR COMMITMENT TO CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY (CSR)

We understand the value and importance of the support we receive from the communities in which we operate as well as our Company's responsibility to align our corporate values with the social, environmental and economic needs of those communities. For those reasons, Aptiv is committed to the following CSR principles.

APPROPRIATE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

Aptiv has an independent Board of Directors that oversees the management of the Company.

ETHICS AND COMPLIANCE

We will continue to communicate to our employees and business partners, through this Code and through a variety of other communications and programs, the high degree of integrity and ethical values we apply to our business conduct and which we expect our business partners to respect and adopt.

RESPECT AND PROTECT THE ENVIRONMENT

Our environmental policy is based on internationally recognized standards and management systems. Every Aptiv site must follow established guidelines, including environmental requirements that 100% of our manufacturing sites are certified according to ISO 14001, a voluntary norm going above and beyond legal obligations.

- We continue to aggressively pursue initiatives to reduce emissions, waste and water consumption in every region in which we operate
- We continue to take actions to reduce our greenhouse gas emissions, by increasing shared renewables to reduce carbon footprint, purchasing energy-efficient equipment, reducing energy consumption, planting trees, and stimulating innovation and fostering best practices to reduce energy and greenhouse gas emissions
- We are committed to reducing water consumption, particularly in water-scarce areas
- We have implemented a robust system to eliminate, minimize, segregate, and properly manage waste
- We pursue material efficiency and reduction initiatives for the raw materials used in our products, including copper, rubber, and plastic

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

Protecting the environment is not limited to major projects with substantial budgets. Even small gestures can have a meaningful impact – especially when we all do our part. Each employee should think about their use of resources – such as electricity, water and paper products – and consider whether there are opportunities to minimize their use or recycle.

For more information, please contact a member of the Corporate Communications staff or review our Charitable Giving Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

EDUCATION AND PHILANTHROPY

We work to improve the communities where we work and live, organizing our efforts around our mission:

- Safe: Road safety education for children
- Green: Reforestation through tree planting
- Connected: STEM education for children

In addition, each Aptiv site is encouraged to support local organizations in their communities, and our employees are encouraged to volunteer their time to help improve their communities, either on behalf of Aptiv or on their own time.

The activities of the Aptiv Foundation also support our communities. The self-funding foundation is a separate legal entity from Aptiv, and its Board of Directors is responsible for the distribution of its funds. Its priority is education, primarily in the areas of science and technology.

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH & SAFETY

Health and Safety is one of the core principles that defines who we are as a company. With our robust management systems and policies, Aptiv consistently outperforms other companies inside and outside of our industry when it comes to global safety. But our safety goal is not simply about statistics. It's about protecting our people. We will not be satisfied until we meet our ultimate target of zero incidents.

For more information please contact a member of the Corporate Communications staff or review our Charitable Contributions Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

For more information please review our Environment, Health and Safety Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

POLITICAL PARTICIPATION

Corporate Political Activity

Aptiv does not make any direct or indirect political contributions or support political candidates or parties anywhere in the world. Our policy prohibits corporate contributions such as:

- Buying tickets for a political fundraising event
- Providing goods or services to political candidates or political parties
- Loaning personnel during working hours for campaign activities
- Paying for advertisements and other political campaign expenses

Assuming local law allows it, candidates for public office are permitted to visit an Aptiv facility during a campaign, but certain restrictions apply to what they can do at the facility. All visits by candidates for public office must be coordinated with and pre-approved by regional Government Relations staff.

Aptiv abides by all lobbying laws. Employees who may be engaged in lobbying activities and who interact with government officials must comply with all lobbying laws, including public disclosure requirements. No lobbying activities may be conducted on behalf of the Company without the express approval of the Government Relations staff or the Legal staff.

Personal Political Activity

Aptiv encourages political activity by employees. However, you should engage in the political process on your own time, with your own resources. The use of Company time, property or equipment for personal political activities is prohibited.

QUESTION

My neighbor is running for office and I support his candidacy. Can I put up posters at work?

ANSWER

No. Aptiv encourages employees to be active in the political process. However, employees should use their own time to do so. Solicitation of goods, services and other personal campaigns on Aptiv premises are not allowed.

For more information please contact a member of the Corporate Communications staff or review our Political Participation and Lobbying Policy, available on the Ethics and Compliance page here.

Operating with Respect in Our Communities

THE BOTTOM LINE

- We are committed to Corporate Social Responsibility principles that will allow us to build and maintain effective relationships with the communities and institutions with which we interact.

Always Do the Right Thing, the Right Way

We must ensure prompt and consistent action against violations of our code. In situations where you may be uncertain in application of our values and behaviors, keep these steps in mind:

Make sure you have all the facts.

In order to reach the right solutions, we must be fully informed.

Ask yourself: What specifically am I being asked to do? Could it be viewed as unethical or improper?

Asking these questions will enable you to focus on the specific dilemma you are faced with, and the alternatives you have. Use your judgment and common sense; if something seems unethical or improper, it probably is unethical.

Clarify your responsibility and role.

In most situations, there is shared responsibility. Are your colleagues informed? It may help to get others involved and discuss the problem.

Discuss the problem with your supervisor or any member of management, or a member of the Legal or Human Resources staffs.

In many cases, these resources may have additional knowledge or insight about the issue. It is our joint responsibility to help solve problems.

Seek help from other company resources.

You also may submit concerns to the Aptiv Drive Line by telephone, email or online at <https://driveline.aptiv.com>. Local Drive Line telephone numbers are available locally and posted at: <https://driveline.aptiv.com>.

You may report ethical violations or concerns in confidence and without fear of retaliation.

If your situation requires that your identity be kept secret, your anonymity will be protected to the extent possible subject to local law. Aptiv does not permit retaliation of any kind against employees for good faith reports of ethical violations.

Ask first, act later:

If you are unsure of what to do in any situation, always seek guidance from appropriate personnel before you act.
